BY TRACI BONNEY

By his own admission he's being optimistic, but Marlin Torguson hopes the Mardi Gras Casino Corp. can begin operations in Bay St. Louis by January 1, 1992.

In a Bay St. Louis city council workshop meeting Tuesday, the Minnesota-born casino owner publicly announced his ownership of the Pete Fountain property at the foot of the Hwy. 90 Bay bridge. Torguson told the council and local residents at the meeting about his company's plans for the property, plans which include a casino, restaurant and hotel.

Torguson said during a telephone interview Friday that Mardi Gras Casino Corp. worked through Sawyer Real Estate in Gulfport to finalize a deal and signed a contract to purchase the property last September. "There's still some paperwork to do, but we have paid a deposit and some money," he stated.

Lenny Sawyer, listing agent for the property, confirmed that the contract was signed last year at the end of September.

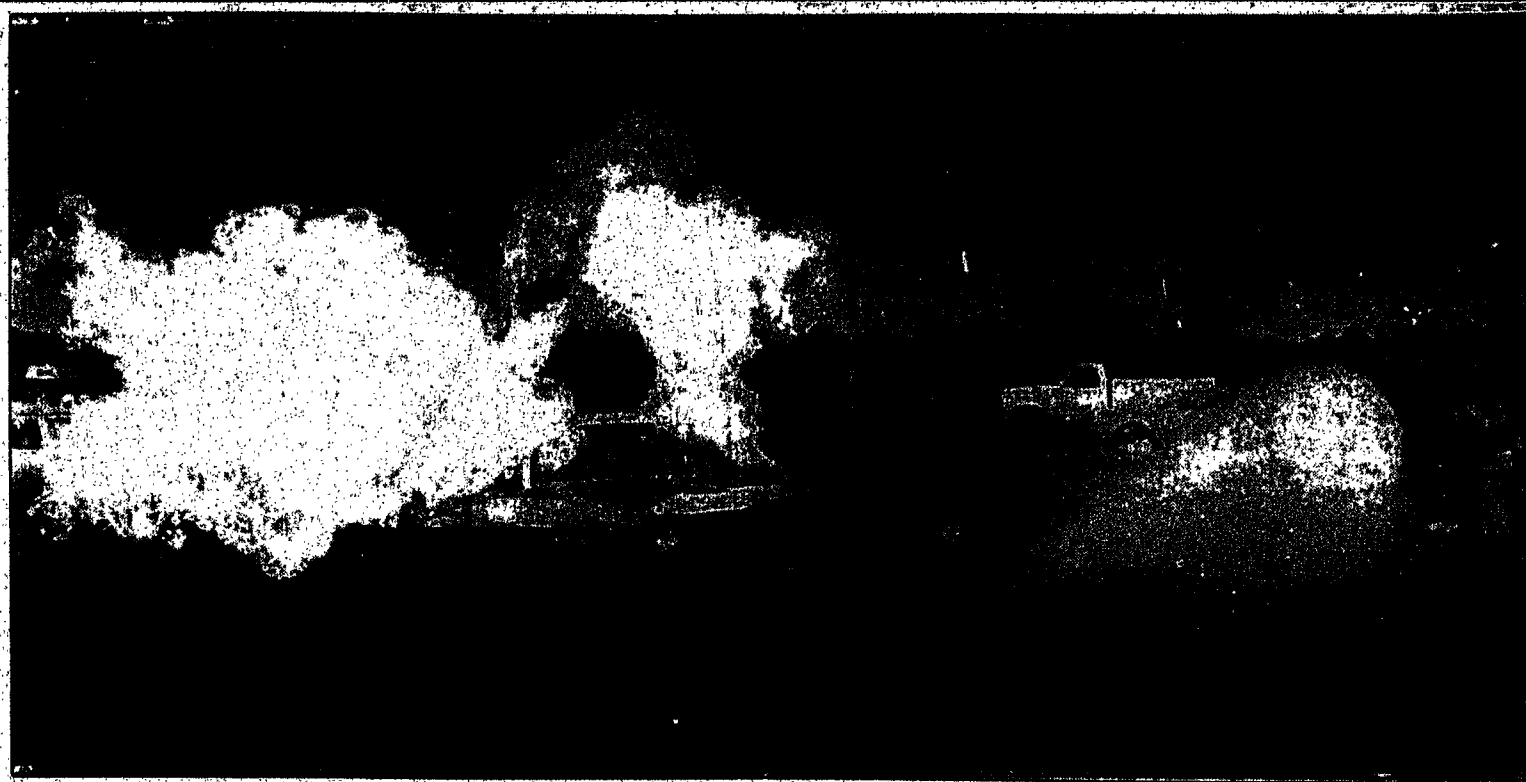

When asked why the transaction was kept so quiet, Torguson said his company wished to avoid the political hotbed that dockside gaming was becoming at that time.

Mardi Gras Casino Corp. has no projected start date for construction, but is formulating preliminary plans. Torguson said the permit application has been filled out but will not be submitted until the State Gaming Commission hires an executive director and staff.

Torguson commented, "I'm very, very anxious to get underway with construction and the permitting process."

Bill Mitchell, of Brown & Mitchell Inc. in Gulfport, is the project engineer for the proposed Bay St. Louis operation.

School board splits on insurance matter

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay-Waveland School Board member Charles "Chuck" Benvenutti made a motion Monday that the board ask local insurance agents to submit a "quote, bid" for the district's yearly property insurance, "as that time of year is rolling around."

Benvenutti said, "I was approached by local agents who said they could have saved us (the district) money. I would like to see if they can."

Board president Linda Penrose reminded Benvenutti that several years ago the board waited to accept an insurance offer in order to bid on the insurance policy. She said the delay cost the district an additional $20,000.

Member Willie Bradley asked that Penrose's comment be explained.

It was said that the original offer made by the insurance company was done so because of the time of year it was offered.

When the bids were made for the insurance policy, a few months later, the company which made the pre-offer was awarded the contract as the lowest bidder, but at $20,000 more than its pre-offer.

The board took a vote on Benvenutti's motion. Benvenutti and James "Jim" Wilcox voted to open the contract to bids. Penrose and Gary Yarborough voted against, and Bradley abstained, citing lack of information for him to make a fair judgement. As there was no majority, the motion failed. District business manager

Garland Cuevas stated the board's action was effective only on that motion made by Benvenutti. "They may chose to open it to bids later." He said the district was not obligated to do more than offer a lease amount.

Bayou Caddy Marina dispute heats up supervisors' meeting

BY TRACI BONNEY

Arguments, accusations and a 20-minute executive session marked the first half of the county board of supervisors meeting Friday.

The dispute began when Port and Harbor Commission director Harold "Buz" Olsen brought up for approval a resolution awarding a one-year lease on the Bayou Caddy Marina for $6,400 to Michael Cure. Cure received the lease last year after the bidder who was originally awarded it was not able to live up to his obligations.

Kelvin Schultz, who owns Big E Seafood and two businesses in Pass Christian, also bid on the lease, offering a bid of $6,600. He attended the supervisors' meeting, along with his attorney Mike Haas.

During his presentation, Olsen told the board the commission voted to award the lease to Cure because Schultz's bid was not responsive to the specifications in the legal notice. Olsen said the bid made no mention of insurance or experience in running a public boat dock.

Haas began by saying his client was notified of the solicitation for bids at a very late date and was therefore unable to submit an extensive bid proposal. Both Haas and Schultz said Schultz had only enough time to write down a bid figure, go to the Port and Harbor Commission office and submit the bid. Haas contended that the Port and Harbor Commission awarded the lease capriciously, and cited a state law that the commission was obligated to award the lease to the high bidder. He said the bidder was not obligated to do more than offer a lease amount.

He claimed the Port and Harbor Commission was arbitrary in awarding the bid to Cure simply because Schultz's proposal was not in a polished format. He also produced a letter

Home sweet home

Farve home ready for occupancy

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

A teary-eyed Dennis Farve sat outside the front entrance to his home on Keller Street in Bay St. Louis, Wednesday, greeting visitors while his wife, Laura, flitted among the people, expressing words of gratitude and pride.

The house is a lovely three bedroom, one bath home. The front living room opens to a hall and a large bright kitchen-dining area.

A small bedroom claims the corner between the two family rooms. At the end of the hall on the north end of the house are two bedrooms kept cool by the shade of pines along the side of the house. These two rooms are completed except for the flooring. The concrete of the foundation slab is still exposed, but Louise Farve found little worry in that.

Mrs. Farve showed off her bathroom and new tub and shower. She named who donated the tub with the wonder of a grand sweepstakes winner.

From the kitchen door she pointed out a small area where her laundry facilities will be stored.

She was obviously proud of each wall, each window, each door as she accompanied various friends and local dignitaries through "her home."

Mr. Farve, recovering from a back injury, and the emotion of a thankful heart, remained seated in the front yard, barely able to speak from the overwhelming reality of a dream come true.

Louise and Dennis Farve's need was presented to the community last summer when their house was condemned and the Farve family, fallen upon hard times, was unable to afford the construction of a new structure.

Mrs. Geraldine Lang, a member of the Board of Directors of Gulf Coast Community Action Agency (GCCAA), contacted its executive director, Doyle Moffett, to request assistance for the Farve family project.

He, in turn, assigned Athalia Piernas, deputy director of planning and administration, to coordinate funds from several federal-state programs.

Bay Side man attacked while asleep in his home

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County Sheriff Department Investigator Nathan Hoda reported that Thursday at approximately 6 p.m. allegedly three men entered the home of Marion Hughes in Bay Side Park and striking him over the head in an attempt to rob him.

Hoda said, "According to the statements taken, one suggested they go to the home of Marion Hughes to get some money."

"When they got there, they struck him over the head, threw a blanket over him, and then hit Hughes again."

Hoda added that Hughes said, "I was asleep, when all of a sudden I saw stars. Someone had hit me with a bottle, threw a blanket over my head and hit me, I think, with a hammer."

"I played dead. Someone said, let's get out of here. They left."

Hughes was reported to have gone to a neighbor's house where he telephoned the sheriff's department. He then went to Hancock Medical Center for treatment.

Joseph Antoine, 21, Carl Freeman Jr., 19, and Steve Freeman, 18, all of Bay Side Park were arrested and charged with aggravated assault, reported Hoda.

Hoda said Hughes had recognized the three men and identified them.

The three men are in the Hancock Justice Facility. No bond has been set at this time.

PICAYUNE—Page 7A

Picayune man charged with rape

A Picayune man is being held without bond in Hancock County jail on charges of rape, armed robbery and third offense DUI, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said Patrick Dudley Whitfield, 38, of 316 Seventh Street in Picayune was arrested Wednesday evening after the county dispatcher received a call around 6:15 p.m.

"The dispatcher received a call from a hysterical female at Todd's Mini Mart #2, located at the corner of I-10 and Hwy. 603. The woman, who is 36 years old, said she had just been raped and robbed," Peterson reported. He said she made the call on the Emergency 911 system and although she was hysterical, she was able to give the dispatcher a description of the suspect and his vehicle, a blue 1981 Datsun truck.

About five minutes after the information was dispatched, Peterson said, Waveland police officers and county deputies stopped Whitfield at the intersection of Hwy. 603 and Old Nicholson Road, where he was arrested.

from Hancock Insurance saying the company would insure Schultz to operate Bayou Caddy Marina if he received the bid.

At one point during Haas's presentation, supervisor board attorney Gerald Gex cited another section of state law which says a governing body such as the Port and Harbor Commission is obligated only to dispose of a lease as the body sees fit.

After making a rebuttal to each point Olsen raised, Haas then alleged that the commission based its award on the bidders' personalities and not on the proposals themselves. Olsen objected, asking Haas if he were accusing the commission of awarding the bid to Cure because they didn't like Schultz.

Supervisor board president Ronald Cuevas called the meeting back to order, and supervisor Lisa Coward made a motion that the board go into executive session to discuss its action (whether to accept or reject the Port and Harbor Commission's resolution) based on the possibility of litigation.

After a 20-minute executive session, the board voted to reject the Port and Harbor resolution and ask the Port and Harbor attorney to contact the state attorney general and get a written opinion as to the validity of Schultz's bid.

In other matters, the board approved a resolution welcoming back the Telephone Pioneers, who almost filled Buccaneer State Park for a week last year during their international convention; approved the May 1-15 payroll; authorized Fred Wagner to draw up plans and specifications for a county jail expansion; took bids for replacement drainage structures under advisement.

Bay council returns to original zoning study procedure plan

BY TRACI BONNEY
It's back to Plan #1 for the Bay St. Louis city council.

The council, at the suggestion of city consultant Jules Lagarde, had agreed to define the parameters of a proposed comprehensive zoning study following the compilation of a final list of four study proposal applicants.

Lagarde said when he made the suggestion in a May 6 workshop meeting that the original proposal request was deliberately nonspecific in order to have the consulting firms establish their credentials and background.

However, in a memorandum dated May 14, Lagarde told the council he had reviewed the four proposals, and now recommended that the council not define an exact scope of work as earlier agreed, but return to the original intent of the proposal request.

That intent was to accept proposals, select a short-list of firms, interview those firms and check references, rate the list in descending order of choice, negotiate the scope of work and a contract, execute the contract and proceed.

In a May 14 workshop, the council agreed to Lagarde's recommendation and asked that Mayor Edward Favre inform Lagarde of the decision, so that Lagarde and Carroll Gordon, chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee, could meet to again review the proposals and formulate a list of interview questions.

Lagarde said in his memo that he wants to have a final recommendation for the council on the hiring of a consulting firm by May 24.

In another matter, the council discussed the upcoming Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission public hearing about Section 504 of the city ordinance, which calls for automatic Residential-1 zoning of any land annexed into the city. The hearing, set to be held in the city council chamber at 7:30 p.m. May 29, will give the public an opportunity to voice opinions on the amending or removal of this section so that newly-annexed land can be appropriately zoned at the time of annexation.

The council also heard a report from Gordon, who told council members of a possible prospect for a light industrial park being established in Bay St. Louis.

Gordon said the interested party is inspecting possible sites for a light manufacturing company. He explained that the company would need about 40,000 square feet to start, with possible future expansion to 200,000 square feet, and would not be producing hazardous waste byproducts.

The council also heard an hour-long report from Main Street Program Manager Mike Cuevas about the benefits, needs and organization of the recently approved local Main Street Program project.

Investigation continues in case of missing Bay Side Park man

BY TRACI BONNEY

A $1,000 reward is still being offered for information on the whereabouts of Bay Side Park resident William "Billy" Burr, who has been missing since March 23.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson and department officials have been searching for Burr and interviewing those associated with him for almost two months following his disappearance.

Peterson said, "The case is still under investigation. We have no new leads at this time. We are tracking down any and all information we receive, but we have nothing concrete right now."

The gold 1986 Toyota station wagon (Hancock County license 1CMP963) that Burr was reported to be driving when he was last seen early on the morning of March 23 has not been found.

Burr, 36, was reported to have been seen last by a co-worker of Burr. According to the sheriff's report, Burr dropped off the co-worker at his Bay St. Louis residence and was apparently headed home when he was last seen around 3:45 a.m.

Peterson described Burr as being between 5'10" and 5'11", weighing about 150 pounds and having curly brown hair and brown eyes. According to the description, he also has the name Glenda tattooed on one arm and the name Ruth on the other.

He was last seen wearing black jeans, a cream-colored button-up shirt and brown suede shoes.

Anyone with information that could assist in finding Burr is encouraged to call the Sheriff's Department at 467-5101 and asked for Peterson or Chief Deputy Delbert Seay.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

On Saturday and Sunday, May 25-26, the Gulf Coast Air Race Association and Chapter 479 of The Experimental Aircraft Association's Airshow is scheduled to be held at the Stennis International Airport.

Last year the event was in October, but association members felt that possibly the month of May would be a better time to give more folks an opportunity to be able to attend.

Airplanes of all vintages will be on display for the air show.

Also shown will be experimental aircraft and military planes of many types.

Much food will be available, including boiled crawfish.

We will be giving you more information in Thursday's paper about the event.

Folks, do not forget the 12th Annual Beach Front Festival which is scheduled for today in Bay St. Louis.

There are some 40 arts and crafts and food booths participating in the big annual event, sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Merchants Association.

Admission is $2. It is free to those 12 and under, 60 and over, and all active duty military with ID cards.

The bands begin at noon, and entertainment is scheduled until 6:30 p.m.

The Children's Art Festival gets underway at 11 a.m. in the Peoples Federal parking lot on Main Street.

There are many events scheduled for the youngsters.

Each year hundreds of Hancock County children enjoy Little League baseball.

These youngsters look forward to playing ball with their friends, as it is a program which gives them something constructive to do.

It is hard to understand how someone could stoop so low as to steal $1,000 worth of baseball equipment. The items included catcher's gears, bats, gloves, and balls.

This happened in the City of Waveland the last Friday night of April.

I am hoping the culprit, or culprits, will be apprehended and made to pay heavy for the serious crime they have committed.

I know that Bernard Tusa of the Little League, team sponsors, volunteer coaches, along with many other parents have worked hard for the Waveland Little League in acquiring the necessary equipment over the years.

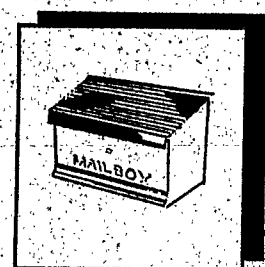

If you are interested in making a contribution to the Waveland Little League at this time of great need, please do so.

Tusa is usually any night at the ball park located on Waveland and Central avenues, and any help would be greatly appreciated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Re: Brett Favre letter; if shoe fits, wear it

To the Editor:

In response to Ms. Camie K. Johnston's comment about Brett Favre, I have something to say.

While it may be true he had no right to spread your hidden secrets, the lesson that was taught will last a lifetime.

As for Hancock County's dirty linen and shaming you to the world, if the shoe fits, by all means, wear it.

Social skills and speech classes are to be taught throughout school, and as for illegal gambling, should it be going on at all? Is it proper to say that your county is having some difficulties?

In my opinion, as time goes on and his career progresses to the big time, the words of anger will slowly disappear.

Before I forget, what year did you attend school? The motto for athletes in today's school system is, no pass, no play.

To Brett Favre I say "Go Falcons!"

To Ms. Johnston I say, all words can be interpreted different ways.

Yours truly,
J. Nations

Gambling opponents are overlooking obvious benefits

Dear Editor:

My compliments, fellow members of the (heretofore) "Silent Majority"... proponents of dockside gambling and the sure much-needed prosperity it will bring to this area.

Since this is America, and we won the election, we can afford to be amused by—and to pity—vociferous 'poor losers' like Franya Ethridge, who, in your May 2 edition, "Letters to the Editor," wrote, "Of the approximately 31,000 people in Hancock County only 4,246 voted in favor of dockside gambling."

Do you really think the public is that dumb, Ms. Ethridge? Yes, there are almost 32,000 persons in Hancock County, but at least 12,800 of these are children under age 18 who cannot vote yet; of the remaining 19,200 a considerable number are unregistered and cannot vote; and many others found it necessary to drop out of school to help support their families and to go elsewhere—outside of Hancock County—to find jobs.

These latter may or may not be registered to vote in Hancock County, but if so, may have been working out of the area on election day. Even so, compared to other elections, 4,246 (if an accurate figure) is not a bad "win."

Ms. Ethridge does not seem to be aware that 34 of the 50 states (that's 68 percent!) already have approved gaming in one form or another, and most find that this "voluntary taxation" (only by those who wish to participate) beats the other kind of taxation by a country mile.

Secondly, in the letter she states that "three of the proposed dockside developments will be in the heart of one of the loveliest, historic beach fronts along the entire Gulf Coast."

Great! And, the best of all, new, fresh, well and properly planned, sturdy, attractive, non-weather-beaten, modern, utilitarian buildings (including air-conditioned, secure parking structures) and landscapes supplementing the natural beauty of those beach fronts. Buildings and landscapes that will attract visitors from other towns, cities, states and countries.

Buildings and landscapes that are like those found along the beautiful coasts of California, Florida, Virginia, Mexico, Europe and above all, buildings and landscapes that will result in desperately-needed jobs, jobs, jobs, and money, careers, better education and a much better life for Hancock County's and Southern Mississippians.

A volunteer job in any social service agency/activity might convince her—and others of her ilk—that what is needed in our town, in our state—are jobs and money. Too, many capable, deserving, hard-working, unemployed people for too long have had (and are still having) to let their children go to bed hungry.

So, in my opinion, the socio-economic needs of Bay St. Louis (the needs for food, housing, clothing, and transportation) far exceed the needs to worry about (fret about) what "might" happen if we let the 'bad old gambling' industry come in.

Perhaps if Ms. Ethridge had traveled more, she might have had the good fortune to visit another place on the water called Laughlin, Nevada. A few years back, a fellow named Don Laughlin reopened a bankrupt motel (eight rooms), with a bar and bait shop on the Colorado River, and began the miracle that today, seemingly, has no end.

In 1990, evidence of Laughlin's prosperity is everywhere. In August, Hilton Hotels

District offices specialize in grassroots assistance

In last week's column, I discussed the constituent services of my Washington office. In today's column, I would like you to know how my three district offices in Gulfport, Hattiesburg and Pascagoula provide service to the citizens of South Mississippi. I feel the assistance to constituents provided in the district offices is grassroots government service at its best.

Like my staff in Washington, the staff members who work in Mississippi are always busy. Gulfport is my main district office and is staffed by four people.

Using last month as an example, the staff in Gulfport was involved in 1,133 cases. This number includes new cases, ongoing cases and cases that we resolved for constituents during the month.

The leading number of cases (243) handled involved South Mississippians with Social Security problems. Next came cases dealing with veterans and military affairs (232). But Gulfport, like the other district offices, handles 'hundreds of other cases involving social services, IRS, postal, FHA, small business, immigration and various miscellaneous casework. Over 120 incoming calls go to my Gulfport office each day.

In the Hattiesburg office, the three staffers worked on 1,027 cases. Veterans cases (396) headed the list followed by 212 Social Security cases. The office takes over 75 calls each day and a large number of people visit the office in person.

Combined, the three district offices were involved with 2,407 cases during April.

The Pascagoula office, which is staffed by two people, was involved with 347 various cases last month. One of my staffers in Pascagoula is a specialist in seafood and natural resources issues. The seafood industry and our natural resources are very important to the economy of South Mississippi.

To reach the people of the Fifth Congressional District who don't live near one of the three district offices, my district representative travels throughout the district.

Last week my mobile office van visited Lucedale. In the near future, visits are scheduled to Poplarville, Leakesville, Wiggins and Picayune. Check the local newspaper to learn when my mobile office will be in your community.

And since I opened an office in Pascagoula after my election in 1989, I received this letter: "Thanks to you, Gene, the people of Pascagoula have a place to be heard and are made to feel that you, as their representative, are truly interested in their concerns."

Above, I've given you some numbers of the cases and calls we handle, but what gives the staff and myself the most satisfaction is knowing that we are helping real people.

I received this from a resident in Long Beach: "I want to take this opportunity to again express my gratitude to you, and to the excellent members of your staff I've had the privilege to communicate with, for the outstanding ways you responded to my request, and for the positive support each of you has provided." From a writer in Biloxi: "Your personal interest brought swift, favorable results for which my wife and I are deeply grateful."

From a letter I received from a resident of Hattiesburg: "I want to thank you sincerely for your help in resolving this problem. As you know, it can be a frustrating experience for an individual citizen to contend with the government."

The comments from the above letters are what my three district offices are all about. Helping people cut through the red tape and bureaucracy is a service provided to thousands of South Mississippians each month.

These are the phone numbers for my three district offices: Gulfport (864-7670), Hattiesburg (582-3246), Pascagoula (762-1770). If calling any of these offices is long distance for you, please use this toll free 800 number: 1-800-273-4363.

FROM THE CAPITOL

By Governor Ray Mabus

Mississippi's grades improve on economic development

The economic development report card is in and Mississippi's grades are providing to be the envy of our southern neighbors.

Our state, based on a national report released in April, is leading the South in economic development policy. This means that we are doing an excellent job when it comes to long-term planning and taking a bullish approach in providing jobs for our people.

Out of all the southern states, Mississippi was the only one to earn a "B" in the category of State Policy in a report issued by the Corporation for Enterprise Development. This grade was one of four indexes included in the 1991 Development Report Card for the States.

Our 1991 grade was an improvement over the state's 1990 "C" in policy and up from a "D" in 1987.

The report said, "Leading workforce and local development efforts, and increased technology and international marketing activity mark a state that takes its challenges seriously."

Our improved ranking in policy shows that we are concentrating on all the right areas. It also shows that we are building a strong foundation for future economic development growth in this state.

Our attention to long-term policy over short-term quick fixes is already paying dividends. Mississippi has a more formidable economic climate, creating jobs and improving the standard of living.

We have made proven strides in a variety of areas that make up our State Policy as it applies to economic development. Among our successes: Workforce development, assistance to local economic development efforts and international marketing. As a matter of record, since 1989, foreign-owned firms have been directly responsible for providing almost 2,200 new jobs with investments totaling over $250 million.

This shows that we have done our homework over the past three years.

Despite this recognition of our momentum, we must not rest on our laurels.

As a state, we must stay the course that we have plotted.

We still have much work ahead of us, however, this report explains that we are on the right path in improving Mississippi's development climate and creating jobs for our people.

Economic development is everybody's business, but by continuing to take responsibility only at the state level, we are not doing enough to make the

Firemen practice firefighting on junk cars

BY T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

The sky above Diamondhead roared with flame Thursday afternoon as several Hancock County fire departments participated in a vehicle fire drill.

using the 'Jaws of Life' was scheduled to run at a later time as part of the same program.

Captain Mike Willumitis, of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department, explained explode.

The captain also explained that commercial trucks can carry a wide variety of dangerous cargo. Noting that truck drivers usually know what they are carrying he said, "If you see the driver standing a half mile away from a burning rig, that's where you should be, too!"

A propane-fed manifold was placed inside one of the junk cars, and the gas flow was controlled by firemen at safe distance from the exercise. Teams of students approached the vehicle from the driver's side and attempted to extinguish the gas fueled inferno.

Care was the watchword with all, as Diamondhead Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook had explained, "on your side of the water, the temperature is 100 degrees—on the car side it is 2,000 degrees."

Fire departments participating in the drill included Bay St. Louis, Post 58, Clermont Harbor, West Hancock, East Hancock, BaySide Park, Fenton, Kiln, DeLisle and Diamondhead.

Firefighting at a safe distance.

Hosted by the Diamondhead Fire Department, and using junk cars donated by Mike Perniciaro, the drill instructed participating firemen in the techniques and danger of vehicle firefighting. An additional drill in many of the unusual hazards associated with this type of firefighting; these included some little known dangers, such as a vehicle's bumpers flying off with tremendous force when its impact shock absorbers overheat and opened the twin-tower Flamingo Hilton, Laughlin, with more than 2,000 rooms and suites—the largest property on the river. The Las Vegas Convention and Visitors Authority opened a Laughlin Visitors Bureau in July, complete with budgets of a half-million dollars for advertising and a quarter million for operations.

"Laughlin is now the destination of two million visitors a year, visitors who in 1989 generated some $345 million in gaming revenues, fueling the growth that astounds even the corporate investors whose new hotels seem to spring up like mushrooms."

The above—quoted from the Spring, 1991 Northern Arizona Guide—is all the more astounding when one considers that a mere eight years ago coyotes outnumbered the city's 90-odd residents!

In the 1990's, as predicted years ago by the university pundits, 'Recreation' is the byword. Both water and gambling, as co-equal partners, can provide it here in Bay St. Louis and Hancock County. Not unlike Laughlin's Lake Mohave, we should be able to offer a "paradise for sailors, fishermen, waterskiers, swimmers, campers, hikers, tennis buffs, golfers and photographers."

Of course, the dry desert heat in Laughlin is more comfortable than our humid heat in some months, but at other times is intolerable. In both places, one can appreciate the need for well-trained, adequately-paid air-conditioning/refrigeration maintenance personnel. (Jobs - careers.)

Ms. Ethridge and others like her may be perfectly happy with their lots in life and the 'status quo,' but many are not these days. There are entirely too few adequately-paying jobs in Mississippi.

For a hundred years, it seems, we have been unsuccessfully trying to attract new industries, new employers, new jobs into our state. Only recently have we had some limited successes through the leadership of Governor Mabus.

Those of us who are older remember the old 'BAWI' program (Balance Agriculture With Industry)... which also failed. Why these continued failures? There are a variety of complex reasons, but the most important one usually given is the fact that Mississippi cannot offer to the potential employers, adequately educated and trained employees (this pertains to today's high-tech and similar industries).

And, of course, we can't afford to pay good teachers decent salaries, and provide them with the equipment and facilities they need to produce the kinds of graduates that modern industries wish to hire. However, it is my opinion that—with money flowing into Mississippi—we can begin to overcome the kind of negative thinking that keeps us near or at the bottom of most "good accomplishment" lists.

I am a fifth-generation Mississippian who has made but two brief visits to Laughlin, Nevada—to visit with friends who retired there from another state. On my first visit, I noted many similarities between Laughlin, nearby Bullhead City, and Bay St. Louis.

On the second visit I was amazed at the increase in the number of very nice, very modern, good quality apartment complexes, shopping malls, hairdressers, supermarkets, airfields, schools, and drug stores that were built to serve the thousands of hotel and casino workers. People seemed busy, well-fed, and happy.

I am not a gambler, per se, but enjoy visiting casinos and playing the slot machines and other games when or as I choose. Like the citizens of the other 33 states and my fellow "pro-gaming" voters of Hancock County, I, as an adult, am responsible for my own "moral behavior" and I certainly resent anybody not elected by us to lead or represent us trying to sabotage legitimate laws because he/she doesn't happen to like the laws.

Spoiled children pout and demonstrate their lack of sportsmanship when they lose a game or a competition. Normal adults accept their failures/losses once having "done their best."

Of course, in Iran they don't have separation of church and state as we have in America. The Ayatollahs make and enforce totalitarian laws. This type government probably won't last very long. In the western world. It went out of style with the Inquisition. I don't think we want that kind of operation here in Mississippi.

I think we of the "silent majority" are beginning to be less tolerant with the nonsense and less patient with the increased delays and roadblocks in getting gaming started in Hancock County, and soon must begin to act accordingly. Don't you?

H. Williams

Commodities to be distributed May 23

The Hancock County Department of Human Services will distribute cheese, flour, butter and applesauce to all eligible recipients on Thursday, May 23 at the Civic Center on Longfellow Road from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Eligibility is based on household size and income. All individuals and households who receive food stamps are automatically eligible.

Low-income individuals and households who do not receive food stamps but wish to participate in the distribution must apply to the Hancock County Department of Human Services.

These applications are not always taken every day. Call 467-4565 to find out when to apply.

All eligible recipients must have a commodity voucher which must be signed by them and presented at the time commodities are picked up. One person may pick up commodities for two eligible recipients.

Surplus commodities are issued through The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP) of the United States Department of Agriculture.

This program is available to all eligible recipients regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, age, sex or handicap.

For more information, contact the Hancock County Department of Human Services at 467-4565.

"Investigation revealed that the suspect went into Todd's Mini Mart where the victim worked and brandished a weapon, which was a pellet gun," Peterson stated. "He allegedly robbed a sum of money from the cash register, then took the victim to a storage area where the alleged rape occurred."

"The victim reported that she pushed the suspect when he was getting dressed, and when he left the store she called 911," Peterson said. The pellet gun and $549 in cash was recovered from Whitfield's truck at the time of the arrest.

He said the pellet gun was reported to be stolen from the Picayune Wal-Mart the day of the alleged robbery/rape, and that Picayune police officers were searching for Whitfield on a shoplifting charge in that incident.

"An important fact in this case was that the victim remained cool, considering the circumstances, and was able to give a description of the suspect and his vehicle," Peterson stated. "This enabled us to apprehend him."

He said Investigator Nathan Hoda is in charge of the case.

reviewed the Farve's income and living expenses and found they were eligible for grants from the Department of Human Services. The grants used for the project came from the division of Community Services Weatherization and Emergency Homeless Funds and the Department of Economic Development's division of Energy and Transportation's PVE Weatherization Funds.

As these funds are limited to specific areas and types of assistance, oversight for compliance with conditions was crucial to the effort.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department burned the condemned structure as a training exercise for the firemen.

After one news article appeared asking for help with the construction of the Farve home, a local contractor contacted GCCAA and offered his services free of charge. It was reported that he helped in soliciting help from other throughout the community.

Inspections by the GCCAA Weatherization project director Beth Thomas and field supervisor W.C. Johnson were performed to assure materials were installed according to standards.

Finances coordinated with local contractors on the project to have them donate their labor earnings, thereby allowing for the purchase of more materials. GCCAA is a private non-profit 501 corporation with tax exempt status. All donations to the agency are tax deductible if used for tax exempt purposes. The Farve house project qualified by all standards.

The Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County, Geraldine Lang, Ophelia Raboteau, Maurice Singleton and Thaddeus Williams, sponsored the "Community Togetherness" project for the Dennis Farve Project.

They asked that all the contractors, electricians, and plumbers be extended their thanks along with the Bay St. Louis Fire Department, the City of Bay St. Louis, the GCCAA and everyone that contributed to the project.

The Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County states that the final product of the Farve house is an example of networking to maximize the application of federal-state funding to serve low-income families.

In order to complete the Farve home an additional $1,500 is needed. The Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County asks that donations be given through Hancock Bank where an account is set up for the Farve Project.

St. Jude Trike-a-thon

Children attending the Lutheran Church of the Pines Christian Day Care center took to the road — parking lot, actually — last week to raise funds for childhood cancer study at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. The bikers ranged from 1 to 5 years old and commandeered a variety of vehicles, including scooters and Hot Wheels. Center director Jeannette Fricke said the event has raised $457 so far, with more pledges coming in.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The last meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club for the term 1990-91 was May 9 at the Garden Center.

After the club prayer and Pledge of Allegiance, the president, Mrs. Thomas Murphree Jr., thanked everyone for their support and cooperation for her term in office. She then called on Mrs. John Newkirk for the club's annual historical report.

Mrs. Newkirk read the varied accounts of all activities and accomplishments for the past year, noting the club won many awards from the state and the Deep South region.

Junior Girl Scout Claudette Garcia, Troop 507, was presented the state and regional awards for the Woodsey Owl Poster Contest.

Mrs. John Holmes began the installation ceremony of newly elected officers with a prayer. She then used the Mississippi wild-flower coreopsis and the butterfly as symbols of "Roots of the Past" and "Wings to the Future" for the installation theme.

Each officer pledged to uphold her office and the membership pledged their cooperation and support.

The newly installed officers for 1991 are Mrs. Donald Lowe, president; Mrs. Larry D. Burrows, first vice-president; Mrs. Rene Augrain, second vice-president; Mrs. Peter Brotmeyer, recording secretary; Mrs. George Baud, correspondence secretary, and Mrs. Roy Burkart, treasurer.

Mrs. Lowe's first official act was to present the outgoing president a certificate of life membership to the Garden Clubs of Mississippi.

The Gardens of the Month awards for May went to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mohr, 113 Ballentine Street, Bay St. Louis, and to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Fletcher, 1506 Nicholson Avenue, Waveland.

Mrs. Lowe then adjourned the meeting, and Mrs. Newkirk introduced the hostesses, Mrs. Rene de Montluzin, Mrs. D. Joy Burnett, Mrs. W. H. McCandless Jr., Mrs. Walter Gehrke, Mrs. Davis Los Calso, Mrs. Clarence Ladner and Mrs. Erskine Skelton who served refreshments.

Sierra Club

The national Sierra Club began celebrating its centennial in May. The Gulf Coast group of the Mississippi Chapter of the Sierra Club will open the centennial May 23 by celebrating its unique history.

The program will be part pep rally and call to arms. Members will speak on the origins of the Gulf Coast group and of its early battles to preserve the local environment. Future projects will be proposed as well as a political agenda for election year 1992.

Projects and special events sponsored by neighboring chapters will be announced, and details will be given for those wishing to participate.

The public is invited to this free meeting at the Marine Education Center in Biloxi, located south of Hwy. 90 just before crossing the bridge to Ocean Springs, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 23. Special refreshments will be served. For more information call 435-2623 or 897-2702.

El Grupo Hispano

El Grupo Hispano de Hancock County se reunio el Miercoles 15 de Mayo en la casa de Rolando y Ligia Valle. Este grupo esta compuesto de personas que quieren compartir su cultura hispana con otros.

Rolando Valle, dirigente del grupo, cordialmente invita a todas las personas de descendencia hispana a reunirse a nuestra proxima reunion el Miercoles, 22 de Mayo.

La reunion se llevara a cabo a las 7 p.m. en la residencia de Rolando y Ligia Valle, 119 de Montluzin Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Para mayor informacion, por favor llamar Rolando Valle, 466-4827; Florence Duffie, 467-7754; or Evelyn Parre, 467-6431. Saben or que somos muchos de descendencia hispana en Hancock County. Reunemonos. Esperamos conocernos pronto.

Hancock Extension Homemakers attend five-county meeting

Extension Homemaker Club members from the five coastal area counties met April 3 at St. Martin Community Center. Keynote speaker was Major Steve Tallant, director, Family Crisis Center, Keesler Air Force Base.

Major Tallant spoke about the impact Operation Desert Storm has made on the families, especially military families in the area.

The afternoon program involved club leaders facilitating sessions on the state and national educational topics.

Mrs. Wanda Berthelot, Lakeshore, conducted the session on 'Child and Family Life' attended by women representing clubs along the Coast. A mid-morning stretcher was conducted by Mrs. Margie Welsh, Jourdan River Estates, Bay St. Louis.

Hancock County won awards for having met criteria for a standard Homemaker Council.

More than 150 club members from along the Coast took part in the day-long program.

Hancock Homemakers

Theodore S. Price VFW Post 3253 Ladies Auxiliary

The Post Hall was decorated in red, white and blue. Posters adorned the walls, and a tree of yellow ribbons honored our Desert Storm troops.

The program opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and the National Anthem was played.

Genevieve Cole, patriotic instructor, gave a brief speech. Audrey S. Heyd, Americanism and Loyalty Day chairman made a speech on rededicating ourselves to the American flag.

Jessica E. Johnson of Bay Senior High School, who was the winner of the Voice of Democracy essay contest, gave a rendition of her winning essay. She was presented with a $100 savings bond, a citation and a Voice of Democracy plaque by Commander Truman Schultz.

Schultz presented citations and a VFW jacket to Gus Aime, Bobby Poyadou, Willie Gavney, Jimmie Reynolds and Roy Tomlinson for services rendered.

Citations for outstanding work for the ladies auxiliary were presented by senior vice president Audrey S. Heyd to Evelyn Sick, Judy Gavney, Mabel Baumgartner, Patsy Caspolich, Anna Brehm, Willie Gavney, Bobby Poyadou, Gus Aime and Jimmie Reynolds.

American Legion Auxiliary Post 77

The meeting of Bourgeois-Stiefel-Ray American Legion Auxiliary May 7 was called to order by president Janice Carver.

The colors were advanced by Eleanor Marsh and Elaine Lytell. Chaplain Mary Caillier offered the opening prayer, and all members recited the Pledge of Allegiance and the Auxiliary Preamble.

Post Commander Lawrence Freeman appeared to thank the auxiliary for all they have done this past year.

Darlene Underwood, Hancock County home economist, gave a talk on a woman's part in politics.

Each member received a list of all the elected officials in city and county government.

The various committees gave their reports, and Betty LaFontaine reported membership had reached 312.

Since the Tuesday morning bingo has been so successful financially, the following donations will be given in addition to the help the auxiliary always gives to the Biloxi and Gulfport VAs:

$300 to Mississippi Burn Center in Greenville; $300 to Ronald McDonald House in New Orleans; $200 each to Richard Soldine and Kristie Pierce, who will attend the Davis Planetarium in Jackson.

The auxiliary donated $250 to buy key rings for graduating students in the county with the inscription "Say No to Drugs," $625 to the nurses' training program and $150 each to the Waveland Fire Department, Waveland Police Department and Hancock County Sheriff's Department; and $100 to help pay for a reception for the 10 Hancock County Girls who will go to Girls State.

Before closing the meeting, the membership of the late Delores Booker was transferred to Post Everlasting.

New officers will be elected during the June 4 meeting. All dues must be paid before June 4 to allow members to vote.

After the closing prayer, the colors were retired and the meeting was closed.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

FENTON

TOPS No. 231 Fenton met May 9. The club welcomed Darlene as a new member and discussed attending the quarterly area meeting to be held in Gulfport on Tuesday, May 14.

The Fenton chapter of Tops meets each Thursday at the Fenton Community Center on Kiln-DeLisle Road. Weigh-ins begin at 5:30 p.m. with the meeting from 6-7 p.m.

Any person interested in sensible weight loss or weight maintenance is invited to attend a meeting. For more information, call Ollie Shiyon at 255-9385.

Summer reading pre-registration begins Monday at all libraries

"Sizzling Summer Celebration" is the theme for this year's summer reading program, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, according to Prima Wusnack, library system director.

Pre-registration, which is open to children grades 1-8, will be Monday, May 20 and will run through May 31. Activities begin June 4, but children may register after the program begins through mid-June.

The program will be at the three branches of the library system, at the Kiln Library on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m., at the City-County Public Library on Wednesdays at 10 a.m. and at the Waveland Library on Thursdays at 10 a.m. It will last through the week of July 8.

Activities scheduled include a magic show by Brother Barker for opening week, along with various movies and a visit during July by Ronald McDonald.

In order to register, children must come to the branch they intend to visit, have their library cards checked and complete the required form.

participants must set a reading goal of at least 5-6 books, but a personal goal of more than that is accepted.

Registration will continue through the first two weeks of the program, but no registration will be held during the scheduled activities. Registrants are urged to come early or stay after the program to register.

All activities are designed for children in grades 1-8. Children under six years must be accompanied by an adult. Participants will receive certificates upon completion of meeting their reading goals.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724; Karen Peoples, Waveland Library, 467-9240; or Prima Wusnack, City-County Library, 467-5282.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, May 12-18, 1991 has been designated National Hospital Week by the American Hospital Association, and

WHEREAS, the theme for the National Hospital Week celebration is "Our Team Works For You," and

WHEREAS, the citizens of Bay St. Louis and Waveland pay tribute to the staff of Hancock Medical Center for its many contributions of care programs, services to our community.

NOW THEREFORE LET IT BE KNOWN, that I, Edward Favre, Mayor of Bay St. Louis, and I, Stella Frilot, Mayor of Waveland, and I, Ronald Cuevas, President of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, do hereby proclaim May 12-18 as National Hospital Week and do hereby urge all citizens of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and Hancock County to participate in Hancock Medical Center's celebration.

Given this 29th day of April, 1991, in Bay St. Louis in the State of Mississippi.

Edward Favre, Mayor
Bay St. Louis, MississippiStella Frilot, Mayor
Waveland, MississippiRonald Cuevas, President
Hancock County Board of SupervisorsScardino-
Compretta

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Compretta announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Connally Michelle Compretta, to Matthew Joseph Scardino, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scardino of Pass Christian.

Miss Compretta is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Compretta of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. and Mrs. James Patrick Keith of Jonesboro, La.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Our Lady Academy and the University of Mississippi, where she served as captain of Rebelettes. She was a member of Phi Mu sorority and Kappa Epsilon and was named Outstanding College Student of America.

She is completing a pharmacy externship at Eckerd Drugs in Orange Grove, Miss.

Mr. Scardino is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School. He earned a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Mississippi, and is employed with Rocketdyne.

He is the grandson of Elmer Lois Blanchard of Gretna, La. and the late Mr. Lyn A. Blanchard and the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scardino Sr. of New Orleans.

The couple will exchange wedding vows June 1 in an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Mrs. Helen Mestayer of Waveland is a member of Hancock County School's Adopt-A-School Program and gives freely of her time and efforts to the district's Chapter I Program. Each year she has contributed a motivational gift for students in support of the reading program. This year she has donated bumper stickers for parents to show that they also support this program. As a former Chapter I coordinator for the school system, she continues to maintain an avid interest in the program which serves to greatly benefit the children of Hancock County.

Bay High School student Donnie Ray was recently selected by the United States Achievement Academy as a United States National Award winner in science.

Ray is the son of Donald and Alice Ray of Bay St. Louis. His grandparents are Mrs. Agnes Ray of Waveland and the late Donald Ray Sr., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Chris C. Ladner.

He was nominated for the award by his science teacher, Kathy Ott.

The USAA recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students with its awards. Ray will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook published nationally.
